

Ch'u'itnu Historic District, Traditional Cultural Property

Photograph Log

Native Village of Tyonek/Tyonek, Kenai Peninsula Borough, Alaska

Photo Number	Description	Date Photographed	Photographer	Notes
1 of 23	Satellite image of the Ch'u'itnu Historic District, Traditional Cultural Property	c. 1999	Terracolor Satellite, Earthstar Geographics	Satellite image (not identified on map)
2 of 23	Mouth of the Ch'u'itnu	October 12, 2012	Alan Boraas	Aerial Photograph
3 of 23	Granit Point	December 10, 2014	Alan Boraas	Aerial Photograph
4 of 23	Fish camp southwest of the village of Tyonek	August 5, 2013	Alan Boraas	Aerial Photograph
5 of 23	Ch'u'itnu Historic District, Traditional Cultural Property with the Tordrillo Mountains in the background	March 3, 2013	Alan Boraas	Aerial Photograph
6 of 23	The uplands of the Ch'u'itnu Historic District, Traditional Cultural Property	December 10, 2014	Alan Boraas	Aerial Photograph
7 of 23	The Ch'u'itnu, near the river mouth	June 25, 2013	Alan Boraas
8 of 23	The Native Village of Tyonek	March 13, 2013	Alan Boraas	Aerial Photograph with buildings labeled
9 of 23	Houses in the village of Tyonek	January 1, 2013	Alan Boraas
10 of 23	Smith Homestead Cabin which was occupied from 1926-1940s	August 6, 2013	Alan Boraas	Cabin destroyed in wildfire in 2014
11 of 23	Subsistence hunting camp in the uplands of the Ch'u'itnu Historic District, Traditional Cultural Property	c. 2005	Ronald T. Stanek
12 of 23	Mary Chuit's subsistence cabin along Chuitbuna Lake	c. 2005	Ronald T. Stanek
13 of 23	Walmon in a smokehouse in the village of Tyonek	June 12, 2014	Alan Boraas
14 of 23	Salmon fishing with a setnet along the shoreline of Cook Inlet	August 5, 2015	Alan Boraas
15 of 23	Subsistence fishing at Tyonek	c. 1980	Dan Foster/Alaska Department of Subsistence

Ch'u'itnu Historic District, Traditional Cultural Property Photograph Log

Native Village of Tyonek/Tyonek, Kenai Peninsula Borough, Alaska

16 of 23	Three men in wooden dory picking fish from setnet	c. 1949	Agnes Kaloa Brown	Historical Photograph
17 of 23	Butchering a beluga whale near the mouth of the Ch'u'itnu	c. 1940s	Agnes Kaloa Brown	Historical Photograph
18 of 23	Kaloa family picking berries in the uplands (Alexandra, Stephan, Albert, Jr., and others)	c. 1948	Agnes Kaloa Brown	Historical Photograph
19 of 23	Old Tyonek, now a fish camp. The village was moved to its current location by Chief Chickalusion in the 1930s.	c. 1890	Unknown/University of Alaska-Fairbanks archives	Historical Photograph
20 of 23	From the Glenn Expedition: the mouth of the Ch'u'itnu and Ladd Landing Canary	c. 1989	Edwin F. Glenn Papers/Archives and Special Collections, University of Alaska-Anchorage	Historical Photograph
21 of 23	Tyonek youth practice traditional drumming and songs during annual Big Lake Culture Camp	c. 2014	Rob Rosenfeld
22 of 23	Former Native Village of Tyonek Tribal Administrator Donia Slawson prays over a cremation site within the Ch'u'itnu Historic District, Traditional Cultural Property (with Heather Kendall-Miller)	c. 2015	Oscar Avellaneda-Cruz/Great Land Trust
23 of 24	Residents of Tyonek celebrate the return of Etnen Benkada (Mother of the Earth), a 106-acre parcel within the Ch'u'itnu Historic District, Traditional Cultural Property	c. 2015	Oscar Avellaneda-Cruz/Great Land Trust	